Community Presentation - How to Help Children of Different Ages Understand and Cope with Death and Dying - Michael D. Miller, PhD, Psychology, Marshfield Clinic Health System, Marshfield Medical Center

Whether a family member, friend or even a family pet, it is important that children of all ages understand and cope with death and dying. Dr. Miller will provide guidance on when, what and how to talk to your children about death and dying. Also discussed will be at what age children should be encouraged to visit prior to death and when they should attend activities such as a wake, funeral and graveside services. Dr. Miller's goal is to share information on how you can help your children and family move forward emotionally from this potentially traumatic event.

There is no cost to attend this virtual online community event. Pre-registration is required.
