

Connections across the Health System

On-site health exams are recorded in your employees' medical records, connecting them to their primary care provider and more than 80 specialties at Marshfield Clinic Health System. This record decreases exam repetition, reduces duplication of test and provides prescriptions electronically. In addition, custom reporting on your workforce is available to employers in order to increase employee engagement and utilize measurements to manage health services.

Benefits of on-site services

On-site clinics give your employees direct access to high-quality preventive care at work. This promotes change of negative behaviors like missed health screenings, smoking or medication misuse, which often has a positive impact on health insurance costs to you and your employees.

With our help, your company can design a private exam room at the worksite. This allows employees to meet with a provider during business hours and return back to work quickly and efficiently.
